

Roberto La Rosa is an electrical engineer with a PhD from the École Polytechnique Fédérale de Lausanne. He is a Research Senior Staff Member at STMicroelectronics Catania, where he works on projects related to Ultra-Low Power applications, Wireless Power Transfer, Energy Harvesting, and very high-frequency power conversion. Dr. La Rosa has several patents and has published papers on advanced strategies and techniques for powering wireless sensor nodes.