

Daniele Trincherò has been with Politecnico di Torino since 1997 and École supérieure d'ingénieurs en génie électrique (Esigelec) since 2013. His research interests cover the fields of wireless sensor networks, IoT for agriculture, antennas and microwave circuits, technologies for rural digitalization. Since 2014 he has been President of the largest Italian association against digital divide. He is member of several Italian veteran cars associations.